

Amendment to CC BY-SA 4.0 International License

This amendment ("Amendment") modifies the terms of the Creative Commons Share Alike 4.0 International License ("CC BY-SA 4.0") as follows:

Commercial Use Arrangements: In the event that a prospective user wishes to access and use the licensed data for commercial purposes (the determination of which shall at all times remain at the data owner's discretion but shall in any case include the sale, lease, license or other transfer or use of the subject data in a revenue generative manner), the user must receive advance written consent from the data owner, and such consent may be unreasonable withheld.

Notification and Agreement: The user shall notify the data owner of their interest in using the subject data for commercial purposes and shall seek the data owner's written consent of same. If the data owner elects to license the subject data, the parties shall negotiate in good faith the terms of use.

Integration: This Amendment is intended to be integrated and interpreted in conjunction with the CC BY-SA 4.0 license, and all other terms of the CC BY-SA 4.0 license not expressly modified by this Amendment shall remain in full force and effect.